

FOR YOUR SAFETY Recalled product roundup

Here are some recently recalled products you may have in your home or at work:

✓ Arctic Cat, Inc., has recalled 41,000 Arctic Cat Snowmobiles with fuel tanks that can crack, leak, and burn riders.

✓ Arctic Cat, Inc., has also called back 2,120 Arctic Cat Prowler XT Off-Highway Utility Vehicles. Rear brake calipers may leak brake fluid, reducing braking ability and potentially injuring riders.

✓ Tyco Fire & Security asks buyers to return 21,000 Fire Detection Systems. Sensors may have reduced sensitivity to smoke in conditions of high humidity and high temperature and delay smoke detection in a fire. Tyco Fire & Security also has requested that buyers return 128,000 smoke detectors that also may have reduced sensitivity to smoke.

✓ BRK Brands, Inc., a subsidiary of First Alert, Inc., has recalled 145,890 First Alert® ONELINK™ Battery-Powered Smoke and Combination Smoke/Carbon Monoxide (CO) Alarms. The alarms drain battery power rapidly and will chirp to alert consumers to replace the batteries. Failure to replace batteries before the battery power terminates may cause the alarm to fail to detect smoke and carbon monoxide in a fire.

✓ PTI Sports, Inc., has asked buyers to return 14,000 Schwinn Deluxe Bicycle Child Carriers. Plastic guide tabs on the carrier seat rack can break and injure child riders.

Nursing homes... ...and accident prevention

Families with elderly relatives who reside in nursing homes should be particularly vigilant about nursing home and rehabilitation center accident-prevention protocols.

Since many older people may have mobility or physical-dexterity problems, residences and facilities should get rid of accident hazards, such as low objects, floor obstructions, unstable chairs and beds, and unsafe restraint devices.

Dangerous restraints

A 77-year-old patient admitted to a nursing home was asphyxiated after she slid down in her wheelchair and became trapped in restraints. Her daughter sued, alleging care providers had used restraints without physician's orders or family consent. A jury awarded damages for the death and the daughter's loss of society with her mother.

CLIENT SERVICE

Our goal: Keep you informed

We will always strive to help our clients make truly informed decisions about their legal matters. In our counsel, we will constantly keep all clients "in the loop."

First, we will do our best to solicit client input and feelings about each case's background and developments. Clients always have insights and historic knowledge of issues that can help us fine-tune our approach. Listening to clients is very important to us.

Second, we will explain the tactics and strategies we plan to employ so clients understand why we may recommend a particular course of legal action and where we intend the strategy to lead us. We always appreciate client feedback.

Finally, our approach always includes giving each client the opportunity to ask questions—lots of them—which we will answer right away.

Meet Isaiah

My name is Isaiah Bridges, and I am the Intake Paralegal here at Phillips & Lyon. My duties include interviewing prospective clients, inputting the information I gather into a computer file, and taking pictures of clients' injuries and damage to their vehicles and/or property.

Before I worked for Phillips & Lyon, I served four years in the United States Air Force. I was stationed stateside in Tucson, Arizona, but I was also able to spend time in Aviano, Italy; Ramstein, Germany; and, unfortunately, a nine month stretch in Oman, Saudi Arabia. I must say that while there are some things about the military I miss, I definitely prefer carrying a laptop versus a military issued AR-15 assault rifle. The military taught me a strong sense of self-worth, discipline, and a strong work ethic, all of which I incorporate into my work at Phillips & Lyon.

When I am not driving around the valley to visit and interview new clients, I enjoy spending time with friends and family. I am originally from Southern California, and most of my family still resides in Santa Paula, where I grew up. I visit them every chance I get.

Overall, I enjoy Arizona and what it has to offer. I purchased my first home one year ago, which is something I don't think I would have been able to do at this point in my life in California due to the expensive real estate market. I also have this great job at Phillips & Lyon, which I feel is going to provide me with the foundation I need to succeed.
